

From the Editor

Dear Readers,

There are a few fresh ideas in this issue.

A new regular column on p.6 by Kate Riley who will write a brief FOCUS on one of our many charities supported within the village. This will bring you any recent news and a reminder of who and how to contact them and where to donate again during the year.

The Wellcome Campus employs hundreds of local people who are not only scientists and technicians, but also work in other departments like the gardens or in maintenance. Many of them have interesting hobbies and skills. We will introduce some of these to you.

This time you can read about John Barr the Piper on p.10.

Rosemary Breen has launched her new career as our monthly gardening correspondent with her "Rosemary's Ramblings" on p.16.

The inspirational idea "Big, small & Wild" seen in last month's issue has started a healthy debate about the future vision for our village on p.9 More ideas need to be explored.

Hinxton News 400th edition coming up in May ! Please read the request on p.7.

As ever, March heralds the long awaited spring with lots of things to do in the house, the garden and the Village. Our diary is packed with events and things to do. Enjoy !

Tell us about your early life

I was born in Hinxton in 1939. My parents, though not born in the village, lived here for 50 years. I was one of four children and we lived in Red Lion Square backing onto Knights Close which was our playground but was also a place of refuge. My earliest memories were of Hinxton during the war and of retreating to the dug out for safety, in the dead of night carrying a candle to light the way. We could hear the planes taking off from Duxford. My mother would count them out and later count them back. At this time Hinxton Hall was requisitioned by the US army. At the end of the war I remember them parading in their tanks up the High St waving and throwing sweets to the children and nylons to the women. There were around 20 children at the village school and two teachers. It was a lovely school, except when the dentist came! We were all scared of him and extractions were the order of the day. Some win- What do you feel have been your greatest achievements? ters were very severe. The snow on the main road to Sawston would be piled up at the roadside higher than the hedges. One year Anything else you want to share? snow closed the A11. Many people were stranded but managed to make their way to Hinxton. Some spent the night with residents and others stayed in the Village Hall and in the morning villagers contributed what food they could to provide breakfast. For us children at such times, the big excitement was tobogganing in Knights Close. In the summer mother sent us off with a picnic and we played all day in the meadows. I learnt to swim in the mill pond when some of the older boys threw me in and somehow I managed to doggy paddle to the bank. One of our greatest treats was to be taken to the Tuesday live stock market at Saffron Walden.

What did you do after leaving school?

I left school at 15 and went to work at the Eastern Counties Leatherworks in Sawston making leather gloves and sheepskin mittens. When I was 16 I met my future husband Ron. He was an electrician and was working at Hinxton Hall which was then owned by Tubular Investments (TI). We were married in 1958 and lived with my parents for five months while we watched the council houses being built in Church Green. Finally one of them became ours. I've lived there ever since. My three daughters were born there and I wouldn't want to live anywhere else. Our lives changed forever in 1973 when my husband had a sudden short illness and passed away at the young age of 37. Deborah was 13, Sharon 11 and Lorraine was only six. I remember Deborah saying "please don't put us in a home" and I said "I will do my best to look after you" And I did. I learnt to drive and I got a job in the canteen at TI. But life was hard.

What do you like to do in your leisure time?

I like to knit and read. I've recently completed knitting 30 hats for the Seaman's Mission. Now I've started knitting hats and jumpers for newborn babies in a part of Africa where the poverty means the babies are otherwise wrapped in newspaper. Do you have a favourite plant in your garden and why?

I like Lily of the Valley because it reminds me of my mother. Do you have a favourite piece of music?

My favourite band is Status Quo and my favourite song is Rocking All Over the World. I like Country and Western music too.

What historical figure do you most admire?

My mother. She had a very difficult childhood but was a wonderful, hard working person. She taught me most of what I know.

Who would be your ideal dinner guests?

Prince Harry. Him and me, (Girl friend not invited).

Do you like holidays? Where are your favourite places? I don't like going away now. But my favourite place is Scotland even though it rained every day the first time I went there. What do you most enjoy doing in your leisure time?

Eating Indian food. At home, in a restaurant, anywhere.

I've three wonderful daughters and I brought them up on my own.

I have had some very memorable Big 0 Birthdays. For my 50th I went to the Albert Hall to hear Engelbert Humperdinck in concert. For my 60th, there was a surprise Sunday lunch BBQ at the Village hall. For my 70th I went on the London Eye, initially with some trepidation, but I loved it. Then we went to Harrods for afternoon tea.

I can't wait to be surprised on my 80th!

Nationwide, last year's collection raised over £40,000. There is still a massive need for the Children's Society to work with children and young people who are being hurt and abused, providing a listening ear, a helping hand and a safe refuge. Your generous support is greatly appreciated, as is the time given by the faithful band of collectors. If you would like to help with the collection, please contact me as soon as possible.

It gives us great pleasure to announce that the Revd.Petra Shakeshaft will be joining us in September. She will be licensed as Priest-in-Charge of the Parishes of Duxford, Hinxton, Ickleton, Whittlesford and Pampisford at a service at Ickleton Church at 7pm on Monday 4th September.

We plan to hold a welcome tea party at the Village Hall on 16th September, to which everyone in Hinxton will be invited, and Petra looks forward to meeting as many folk as possible at this event.

Our new young people's group for 9 -13 year olds has got off to a good start. Its name has not been finalised as yet, but for the moment it is called 'Youthinc' which, when you stop and think about it, is a pretty impressive title. Emma Perkins is our part-time youth leader working in Granta Deanery and she has a wonderful rapport with the youngsters and is full of good ideas for both activities and discussions.

As Lent begins, some of us find ways of increasing our self discipline, maybe by giving up something we really enjoy – chocolate, alcohol, sugar in coffee or tea and so on. We also try to engage in a positive activity, to increase our commitment in some way. Church members will be collecting for Christian Aid, saving 20p pieces in Smartie tubes, or similar containers. These will be brought to church on Easter Day. Our faith and fellowship can be deepened by study and this year's Lent course is based on St.Paul's Letter to the Philippians. Meetings will be held at The Old Dairy, Hinxton on Thursday evenings at 7.45pm, or at Whittlesford URC on Mondays at 2.30pm. Full details can be obtained from Margaret Malcolm, tel 01799 531045.

There is so much happening in March, that the following list is just a brief reminder (some details are elsewhere in the Hinxton News). March 1st- Ash Wednesday service at 6.30pm. March 2nd- Lent Study Course 7.45pm at The Old Dairy. March 3rd.- Women's World Day of Prayer service 2.30pm at Duxford United Reformed Church. March 4th- Granta Deanery Fair, 10-noon at Great Shelford Memorial Hall. March 11th- Peterhouse Choir Concert. March 24th- Bingo. March 26th- Mothering Sunday service at 10am.

One more date for your diary – the Annual Parochial Church Meeting will be held on Monday 24th April at 7.45pm at the church.

If you wish to join the church Electoral Roll, please contact Ros Smith tel. 01799 532064. The members of the Ministry Team thank you all for your patience, encouragement and support during the vacancy.

On September 23rd Rosemary and Paul Breen will hold another coffee morning at their home. This is part of the national effort to raise funds for the appeal. Most of us are affected in some way by cancer and there are so many ways to help.

Did you know that; Macmillan's goal is 'to reach and improve the lives of everyone living with cancer and to inspire millions of others to do the same'.

They offer a range of free courses, workshops and e-learning for people affected by cancer. This includes carers, family members, volunteers and community members.

Macmillan produces independent, expert, up-todate information and brings the voice of people affected by cancer to Parliament. Take a look www.macmillan.org.uk

Macmillan needs volunteers too; you could take a look at volunteering@macmillan.org.uk Or Tel. 0300 100 0200

There will be the usual warm welcome and cup of tea or coffee with raffles and gifts to buy. So please start planning to bring and buy in plenty for the day.

"Thank you."

What was happening in 1984?

Prince William was wowing the mums and Madonna was hitting the charts. Success for Torvill & Dean but no Gold for Zola. Grim news covered the front pages with strikes and the police out in force.

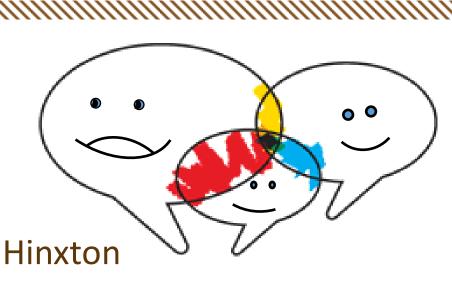

We do know that Hinxton News had its No.1 edition, probably a Roneo-ed typewritten sheet handed from house to house. It would be fascinating to see an early copy, so please look through all those old papers you've kept at the bottom of the cupboard and find one we can print in commemoration.

To all lovely Hinxton residents......

We just wanted to send our massive snuffly thanks to everyone who looked out for us whilst our humans were away on holiday. Although they didn't expect it, we cunningly managed to escape and went on an adventure or two – we think we gave our human's Dad a bit of a fright when he couldn't find us when he came to feed us. A huge thanks to the bus driver who didn't run us over whilst we stopped in the middle of the road to wash our faces, to all who guided us back home and to everybody who let us gleefully hop in their gardens (we hope we didn't eat anything too precious).

Lots of love from Erdös and Pyramus xx

MADE IN DAGENHAM The Musical Book by Music by Lyrics by RICHARD BEAN DAVID ARNOLD RICHARD THOMAS Based on the Woolley/Karlson/Number 9 Motion Picture Financed by the BBC, BMC Finance. BFI and Lip Sync Productions. Directed by Niel Cole. Screenplace by Willia

Spare a thought today for a young woman called Elizabeth Butchill who, on 6th January 1780, gave birth to an illegitimate child. Elizabeth was born in Saffron Walden, Essex in 1758, making her twenty two years old. She lived with her Uncle William and Aunt Esther who had a job making beds for the students at Trinity College and she used her connections to secure the same employment for her niece. Unfortunately, whilst in employment at the College she became pregnant and carried her secret for nine months, unable to confide her shame to anyone. It must have been terrifying for her as the moment of birth drew near - the certainty that further concealment would be impossible. She dared not tell her aunt and uncle. Whether she had a plan or simply acted on the spur of the moment is not known. What is clear is that she went into labour on her own – her aunt heard her groaning in the early hours of the morning and on being informed that "it was colic" took her niece some peppermint tea and hot flannels to soothe her. Not perhaps the most observant of people she went off to work at six in the morning and at around half past six Elizabeth delivered herself of a baby girl. She would have known that her aunt would return from bed making duties at around ten. She held the baby for some twenty minutes, no doubt pondering the awful fate which life would have in store for them both if the child lived. In her desperate state she committed a terrible sacrifice – she hurled the baby down the necessary – the latrine – from where it floated down into the river and was discovered the following day, its skull fractured.

The Newgate Calendar takes up the story: "William Hall, hearing a child had been found, suspected the said Elizabeth Butchill, and sent for a surgeon to examine her.

half past six o'clock, by herself; that the child cried some little time after its birth; and that, in about twenty minutes after, she herself threw the said infant down one of the holes of the necessary into the river, and buried the placenta, &c. in the dunghill near the house. The Coroners Inquest returned a verdict of wilful murder."
 Id. The wheels of justice moved fast:

 "On Wednesday morning she was tried before Judge Buller, when her voluntary confession being produced, and many corroborating circumstances appearing in

In her voluntary confession, taken before the Mayor and Dr. Ewin, and read to the jury, she confessed that she was delivered of a female child on Thursday morning, about evidence, the jury found her guilty, and the judge passed sentence on her in a very pathetic and affecting manner. When the unhappy culprit, in extreme agony, solicited mercy, his lordship told her that, as she had been deaf to the cries of the innocent, and, stifling the strong ties of maternal affection, had been the murderer of her child, it was impossible for mercy to be extended to her in this world; he therefore exhorted her to seek for a sincere repentance, and sentenced her to be executed the succeeding Friday, and her body to be anatomized." The Newgate Calendar ends this sad tale by describing her execution with the following words:

"Desiring her example might be a warning to all thoughtless young women, and calling on Jesus Christ for mercy, she was launched into eternity amidst thousands of commiserating spectators, who, though they abhorred the crime, shed tears of pity for the unhappy criminal. She was a decent plain young woman, about twenty-two years of age; and, before this unfortunate affair, bore a good character for her modest behaviour."

Her execution took place on 17 March 1780 at Cambridge. Spare a thought for the poor tormented "thoughtless" young Essex girl, who 237 years ago paid a heavy price for the prejudices of 18th Century society, and for the blindness of Justice.

Hinxton Watermill needs your help to spruce up for the early open day

If you still have energy left after helping at the Village Spring Clean on April 1, please head down to the mill with your rubber gloves, buckets and brooms. Cambridge Past Present and Future has agreed to a group booking on April 2, when Martin Fordham will be demonstrating how the mill works a month before the usual open season starts. The whole interior will need a serious clean as the winter and passing wildlife can have quite an impact on a building which has a river running through it. (For the same reason this is not a suitable community project for children.)

The usual mill volunteers will be working from 10am and we will be very grateful if you can join us, even if it's only for half an hour.

To keep up energy levels, mugs of steaming tea, coffee or hot chocolate and posh biscuits will be served.

Hinxton Walkers were at last able to do the promised walk around Barkway which Margaret had organised.

It had first been scheduled for December and then January, but on both occasions the weather was against us and the walks had to be cancelled. However, Friday February 3rd finally broke the mould and turned out to be a glorious day ideal weather for a winter walk. There were six of us this time, and it was good to welcome Graham Fagg who joined the group.

We began with a peek into Barkway church and admired the unusual roof and the impressive hatchments; then across the fields to the little village of Reed, before returning via a different route and crossing the B1368. We carried on to the east of Barkway towards the hamlet of Nuthamstead before returning to the cars.

A total of 5.2 miles precisely!

A very welcome lunch at the Tally Ho pub rounded off the occasion. The next walk which Paul will be organising will be on Friday March 3rd.

Although I have enjoyed gardening for many years I still find I need a nudge to remind me of current jobs, so I thought I would share my thoughts with you in the hope it may be useful. Please email me with any tips or hints that you think may be of benefit to other Hinxtonians.

I find March a cheerful month with the crocus, daffodils and early tulips playing a big part. March is also a busy month as the garden and the slugs wake up! The grass is growing again so it is a good time to reseed bare patches, also to scarify using a spring-tined rake. A significant benefit will be seen later in the year if you can spread a mulch of about 3" over the beds while the soil is wet. Ensure that the mulch is not in contact with the stems of shrubs and climbers. This will deter weeds and improve the soil condition.

Roses can be pruned now also any other leafless shrubs that need pruning whilst dormant, this includes plants such as buddleia, hardy fuchsias and ceanothus. Really get the secateurs going as you can`t do much harm and you may do a great deal of good. Always apply a general fertiliser after pruning.

If you are fortunate enough to have a greenhouse now is a good time to give the glass a spring clean in preparation for sowing some seeds of summer bedding and vegetables.

A couple of other things, to keep strength in daffodil bulbs, dead head as soon as they are finished flowering and please don`t forget to feed the birds and if possible leave some nesting materials out for them. Hair and fluff are particularly helpful if left on branches.

County Council Report to Hinxton Parish Council

January 2017

From Councillor Peter Topping

County wideThis week sees the start of work on the Ely bypass. Why does this matter to us? It is the sort of big infrastructure work that will help move people round the county more easily. Under the Cambridgeshire Devolution proposals, I am seeking improvements to the A505 included in our Devolution II bid to central government in 2017. I attended the Health Committee where we were looking at the Sustainability & Transformation Plan being put together by the health commissioning group. Savings of between 10-12% need to be achieved over the next five years, and the committee's role is to scrutinize this work on behalf of residents who access health services. The Chief Executive of Addenbrookes attended and we asked him about how the hospital is improving since being put in special measures 18 months ago.

The Full County Council meeting in December agreed to reverse the decision to reduce gritting routes. This was universally welcomed. The original gritting cuts were part of a package of measures to save money, and avoid putting up the county precept. But clearly the gritting work is a key frontline service.

The County Council must spend a lot of money on adult social care. In the next budget in February, there will be difficult choices between putting up the precept to pay for adult social care, or cutting back on other services to keep the increase as low as possible. There is a survey of Adult Carers being carried out by the county to better understand what support those people need in their role. Devolution updateI am leading the work to accelerate building affordable houses across the county, especially in South Cambs. These are on sites that already have been assigned, so this isn't about building on new land. We are also trying to find ways of encouraging self-build houses.

City Dealthe City Deal has been urged to consider introducing a congestion charge on people driving into Cambridge at peak times. I oppose this because I see it as an unfair tax on residents of South Cambridgeshire whose work takes them into the City. The public transport systems need to be improved first before this could be considered

Closer to home I had a meeting with the county council officers to review how the ford is being managed. I think that the council is now much more responsive in terms of reopening the ford after flooding. There is an issue with the build -up of moss at the ford which makes the surface slippery for vehicles. The water cannot be contaminated with cleaning agents so one possibility is to clean the surface manually in the summer when the water levels are low.

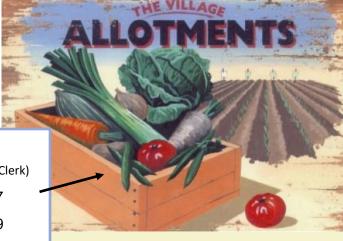

The Whittlesford Neighbourhood Plan Group is holding a drop-in event on WEDS 18 JAN at the Red Lion at Whittlesford Station for businesses and residents. The district council is running an event on how to write a NP after all the views and evidence have been gathered in.

I had a meeting with Uttlesford District Council re the proposals for a settlement at Chesterford and I will update the parish council on this at the meeting.

The Babraham Institute cyclepath secured by the county council through the grounds of the institute with their cooperation and agreement will be formally opened at the end of the month by a celebratory ride followed by tea.

The cold winter days have been considerably brightened this month by visits to some of my fantastic primary schools. I'd like to thank Barton C of E Primary School in particular, for inviting me to sample some mud delicacies made in their own playground mud kitchens! Barton are looking for a local sponsor to help them achieve their goal of 20 laptops for the children to use. If you know of anyone, perhaps a local business, or would yourself be interested in helping this fabulous little school get connected, please contact the Head Teacher, Clare Coulson on 01223 262474.

I was pleased to go back to Guilden Morden Primary School with the East of England Regional Schools Commissioner, Dr Tim Coulson to see progress since they academised on 1st November. The school looks and feels absolutely fantastic and I would like to offer my thanks to the parents, governors and staff who have worked so hard. I was also fortunate to view their brand new Pre-Schools' facility, which offers care to under 5's in a modern, well-equipped setting. They still have a few spaces available, though I expect them to fill fast. Contact office@guildenmorden.cambs.sch.uk for further information.

Our schools are our future and we need to invest in them. I continue to raise the issue of fairer funding in the House of Commons and directly with the Education Secretary, Justine Greening. Cambridgeshire has been historically under-funded and is now experiencing unprecedented growth, which makes for something of a perfect storm in the funding environment. The Government is now consulting on new national funding formula proposals and your contribution is really important.

I have concerns, shared by all our schools, that the proposed formula is still not quite right, so please do join me in feeding this in. For information on the changes we need, please contact my office and to submit to the consultation before the closing date of 22nd March 2017, please go to https://consult.education.gov.uk/funding-policy-unit/schools-national-funding-formula2/.

I'm committed to supporting initiatives that improve mental health within our communities, particularly for our youngsters. Over the past year, I've been following the progress of an innovative partnership developed with the Melbourn schools cluster and an organisation called Allyance. This scheme works on early intervention strategies to support young people with mental health issues in their own school environment. The project has been so successful that Cambridgeshire County Council have approved an extension to their funding for the next year. Furthermore, I hope Allyance will be asked to roll out their initiative all across the county.

I was delighted to celebrate Addenbrooke's great achievement of gaining an overall rating of 'Good' in their recent CQC report. This is a phenomenal turnaround for the hospital and is testament to the dedication and commitment of their outstanding staff. I visited with the Minister, the Rt Hon Phillip Dunne and witnessed just how far the team have come in under two years. We never stopped being proud of you for one moment, and were never in doubt that the quality of care and service was anything other than world class. I'm glad the CQC can now see this too!

Turning to roads, Highways England will shortly be publishing their plans for the A428 Black Cat to Caxton Gibbet upgrade. The Consultation opens in March. Work on this stretch of road is vital in supporting our growth and making our roads safer and more efficient. When it's launched, I'll include a link to it on my infrastructure page which can be found here - https://www.heidisouthcambs.co.uk/a428-black-cat-caxton-gibbet. Please contribute if this issue affects you.

Thanks to those of you who took the time to contribute to my public transport feedback request. I received almost 100 responses. I'll now be taking your opinions and evidence to key stakeholders, including the bus and train operators. There is no quick fix to our rural transportation issues but I intend to push for innovation and joined up thinking that can benefit South Cambridgeshire as part of the City Deal and Devolution package. Please keep an eye on my website for details.

As always, if you have anything you'd like to share with me, you can find details of my upcoming surgeries here - www.heidisouthcambs.co.uk/residents-drop-surgeries I'll be in Swavesey in March and Cambourne in April. Or call 01954 212707 or email me at heidi.allen.mp@parliament.uk

LEVEL UP HUMAN

Thursday 16 March, 6.30pm-8.30pm

WELLCOME GENOME CAMPUS PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT

Wellcome Genome Campus Conference Centre

How would you improve humans? Wouldn't it be great to zoom in with your eyes, change colour at will or type with your feet? Join host Simon Watt, comedian Samantha Baines, and Wellcome Genome Campus researchers for Level Up Human, an optimistic podcast with ambition for the human race. We'll consider pitches from experts, the studio audience and Mother Nature herself in pursuit of good ideas for our descendants. Part of the Cambridge Science Festival 2017.

Price: free entry (Booking required: http://www.sciencefestival.cam.ac.uk/events/level-human) Age: 15+

LETTER BY LETTER: SEQUENCING GENOMES

Saturday 18 March, 12-2.30pm

Wellcome Genome Campus Cultural Zone, Conference Centre

Join us at the Wellcome Genome Campus Cultural Zone (in the Conference Centre) for a range of activities throughout the afternoon; from curator talks, to hands-on DNA-themed activities and a tour of the Campus. 'Letter by Letter: sequencing genomes ', uses objects drawn from the Wellcome Genome Campus collection to chart the development of how DNA has been sequenced. From Fred Sanger's breakthrough in the 1970s, and the ambitious Human Genome Project of the 1990s, to the high-throughput methods of today, which is enabling new scales of research.

Price: free entry (but booking required. Get you ticket here: http://bit.ly/Letterbyletter) Age: 8+
